Annexation of Mawaii.

The probabilities are now that we will before many weeks see the Island of Hawaii annexed to the United States. The leaders in Congress have given much time to the consideration of the subject, and it seems as though it would be a good acquisition. When you're all worn out with the heat and run down, a good acquisition for you is a mild tonic in the shape of Tharp's Berkeley Whisky. As a system-toner it has no equal. Hear 'Em Croak!

No doubt you hear the little dogs barking all down the line, completely baffled at our securing the "bone" in this brand new and stylish stock of the Continental Clothing House, recently opened corner Eleventh and F streets by Godfrey, Moore & Co. You have probably noticed that "we set the pace," and it is such a hot one it is impossible for them to keep up. No other house would offer this stock at the ridiculously low prices we have put on it. We bought it for cash, and we are selling it for cash on the smallest possible margin. We do not care to make any money out of it, preferring to use it as an advertisement for future business.

Men's Suits, $2.50, $4.00, $5.00 and up.

Bear with us a little if you cannot all be waited upon at once. We have an extra force of salesmen, and Mr. Moore, of the late firm, is with us. The Continental had only been established for a few months, hence the stock was in prime condition, and comprises the very highest class of Clothing. In no cases are we asking more than half price. staff, of the Vesta Rowing Club, who teat A. F. G. Everett, of the London Row ing Club, three lengths. It was a hard race at first, but though Everett was gar throughout, making Flackstaff pull all the way, was not nearly good enough. In the seventh heat E. H. Ten Eyck beat

J. J. Blusse, of the De Hoop Rowing Club, of Amsterdam. After the start the ligich man forged ahead, but his leadership was very short. The American, gauging his opponent, slackened his speed, and the Datchman soon began to steer wild. The race was decided at the half mile, when The Hollander was then quite beaten upon his chest and stopped rowing. The se managed to struggle to the bank, he became unconscious. It was found that Remedies were applied, but it was an hou who was not aware of the aecident that had befallen his opponent, paddled easily ome. The condition of Blusse tonight is

The third heat for the Stewards' Challenge Cup, a four-cared race, was won by the crew of the Leander Rowing Club Club by three lengths. The race was a mere procession. In the fourth heat the crew of New College, Oxford, beat the Winnepeg crew by a length, Both started with terrific speed, the Canadians

The Oxonians began to overhaul them at the half mile, but the visitors hung on in great style. Neverfieless, the Englishgreat style. men were too good for them, and began to draw away. They got some distance ahead, when the Winnipegs spurted with great gameness and reduced their oppoents' lead until there was no daylight between them throughout the remainder of the race. Both finished in record time, In the semi-finals tomorrow, Blackstaff will meet McDowell, and Howell will meet Ten Eyek. These contests will be watched
